

I've been reaching out so many times
I've seen The Dark, and I've seen The Light
In tears and dust, there's love and lust
By sword and shield, I fail to breathe

I give myself I sacrifice I realize, then turn to ice

I fear The Reaper and the way he laughs
At all I am, my epitaph

Don't take this life from me

I may be lost, but there's more to see

So many stars, fall from the sky

So many lights, put out tonight

Don't take this life

I close my eyes to the world around

Forever lost, in life I found

A way out of this, a way to go

A lonely road, I must walk alone

I give myself I sacrifice I realize, then turn to ice

I fear The Reaper and the way he laughs

At all I am, my epitaph

Don't take this life from me

I may be lost, but there's more to see

So many stars, fall from the sky

So many lights, put out tonight

Don't take this life

Don't take this life from me

I may be lost, but there's more to see

So many stars, fall from the sky

So many lights, put out tonight
Don't take this life

Don't take this life from me

I may be lost, but there's more to see

So many stars, fall from the sky

So many lights, put out tonight
Don't take this life